Dudley Driving School Professional Code Of Conduct

Dudley Driving School and all driving instructors working on behalf of Dudley Driving School abide by a Professional Code of Conduct.

The Professional Code Of Conduct is to ensure that high standards are maintained, and to provide our clients with reassurance and protection.

The client will be provided with a copy of; 'Dudley Driving School Terms and Conditions of Business'; 'Dudley Driving School Privacy and Data Protection Policy'; details of lesson and other fees; and contact details for both the driving instructor and Dudley Driving School.

Neither the public in general, nor any client in particular will be misled in relation to:

The services provided by Dudley Driving School

The qualifications of driving instructors

The costs in relation to the client's course of tuition

The time required to complete the client's course of tuition

The amount of tuition required to reach driving test standard in the case of provisional licence holders

The amount of tuition required to reach the required standard, relevant to the course of tuition being received

The driving instructor will at all times behave in a professional manner, treating clients with respect & consideration, improper language will be avoided, as will inappropriate physical contact with clients.

The driving instructor will maintain proper standards of dress and of personal hygiene.

The driving instructor will not give driving tuition whilst under the influence of alcohol or drugs

The driving instructor will endeavour to use all their skills to teach the client to drive safely and legally.

The driving instructor and Dudley Driving School will act in accordance with; The Data Protection Act 2018; The General Data Protection Regulation 2018 (GDPR); and 'Dudley Driving School's Privacy & Data Protection Policy'.

Information relating to the client's ability or progress will be treated as confidential, and will not be discussed with any other party, except for normal consultation within the driving school, or if the tuition is being paid for by a third party, then they shall have the right to this information with the client's knowledge.

All vehicles used for driving tuition will be legal and roadworthy, they will be taxed, properly insured for driving tuition, where appropriate have an MOT, and will be properly maintained.
Tuition vehicles are working vehicles but the driving instructor will also take reasonable care that they are kept clean and tidy.

Every effort will be made to ensure that no laws are contravened, either by the driving instructor, Dudley Driving School or by the client.

This will include laws relating to driving licences, the giving of driving instruction, and all motoring laws.

Dudley Driving School will only use driving instructors who have undergone an Enhanced Disclosure and Barring Service Check (formerly called an Enhanced Criminal Records Bureau Check) and are authorised to give driving instruction by the Driver & Vehicle Standards Agency

The driving instructor & Dudley Driving School have the right to refuse the provision of professional services, however, this will never be done in contravention of any legislation concerning discrimination.

The driving instructor and Dudley Driving School will keep records of and issue receipts if requested for any monies paid in advance for driving lessons, driving test fees or any other purpose

Complaints

If the client is not happy with any aspect of tuition, or of the standard of service offered, they should either raise the matter with their driving instructor, or if they prefer with James Quinn at Dudley Driving School, with the minimum delay, and not later than seven days from the date of the cause of the complaint.

Every effort will be made by the driving instructor / driving school to resolve any complaint or issue.

If the client and Dudley Driving School cannot reach a satisfactory agreement then the client can approach 'The Approved Driving Instructors National Joint Council' for non binding arbitration.
